Chairman's Introduction

I am delighted to present my first Annual Report as Chairman of the Guernsey Overseas Aid Commission.

I am indebted to my former colleagues, Carol Steere and Geoff Mahy, who served as the Commission's Chairman during 2012 and to the Commissioners, José Day, Michael Dene, Ian MacRae, Glyn Allen, Tim Peet and Steve Mauger as this report covers the work they undertook, on behalf of the States and people of Guernsey in 2012.

The underlying purpose of the contributions made by the Commission has always been,

"To support projects which will help to provide the basic needs of the world's least developed countries or to help the indigenous population to provide those needs."

The Commission has always sought to direct its contributions to projects which will generate a lasting and sustainable improvement in the living conditions for the communities receiving the aid. This ethos underpins how all applications for Grant Aid are assessed and is reflected in the assessment process and criteria and can be summarised as offering a "hand up" to some of the world's least developed areas rather than simply giving them a "hand out".

The format of the 2012 Annual report has been revised and I hope that it helps the reader to gain a full understanding of the scope of the Commission's work and most importantly the difference funding from Guernsey is making to the lives of some of the world's poorest and most vulnerable communities.

When preparing the Annual Report, the Commissioners decided that the 2012 Annual report should also provide an overview of the outcomes of Grant Aid funded projects. In 2012 some eighty different projects received funding and, as it is not possible to report back on all of them, this Report highlights those projects undertaken by Channel Island-based charities.

In future years, the Commission will report on projects undertaken by the many other charities which receive funding for such development projects.

Deputy Mike O'Hara
Chairman
Guernsey Overseas Aid Commission

1. Commission Membership

In May 2012, following an internal review of governance of the Guernsey Overseas Aid Commission, the Policy Council resolved to limit membership of the Commission to two terms of four years. The result of this policy change meant that four of the Commissioners would be ineligible from standing again. Prior to the policy change, Mrs. José Day, Mr. Ian MacRae and Mr. Glyn Allen had indicated that they were happy to serve a further term. A fourth Commissioner, Mr. Michael Dene, M.B.E., had advised the Commission's Chairman and the Policy Council that he would not be seeking re-appointment.

The Commission wishes to record its deep appreciation to Mrs. Day, Mr. Dene, Mr. MacRae and Mr. Allen for over fifty years of combined service to the Commission and the former Overseas Aid Committee. Mrs. Day and Mr. Dene had served for nearly twenty years each and Mr. MacRae and Mr. Allen had each served for eight years.

The Commission, the States of Deliberation, the people of Guernsey and all those who have benefited from projects funded through the Commission's Grant Aid and Disaster Emergency Aid awards, are indebted to the many, many hours each of the former Commissioners devoted to reading, scrutinising and assessing each application for aid. Each Commissioner brought his or her own understanding, knowledge and experience of either the country or region where a project was to be undertaken and the purpose and objective of each one to the Commission's decision making process and learnt from each other. This is a legacy they have passed onto the two Commissioners, Mr. Tim Peet M.B.E. and Mr. Steve Mauger, who were appointed in 2004, and who, in turn are passing onto the four Commissioners appointed in July 2012.

In March 2012, the Policy Council advertised for anybody interested in being appointed to the Commission to write to the Policy Council outlining their reasons for wishing to serve as a Commissioner. The advertisement stated that whilst there are no formal qualifications for appointment, a proven commitment, interest and experience of overseas aid-related matters was highly desirable.

The Policy Council received fourteen letters expressing an interest and following a selection and interview process In July 2012, the States of Deliberation supported the Policy Council's recommendation that Mr. Philip Bodman, Miss Judy Moore, Dr. Nick Paluch and Ms. Teresa de Nobrega be appointed as Commissioners to serve until 30th June 2016.

The Commissioners

Mr. Tim Peet was a surgeon practising in Guernsey prior to his retirement in 1999. Since retiring, he has been closely involved with the teaching of surgical skills in East Africa, including tutoring and operating with Ugandan doctors. In 2011, Mr. Peet's work in East Africa was recognised by Her Majesty and he was awarded an M.B.E. in the Queen's Birthday Honours. Mr. Peet is the Commission's Vice-Chairman.

Mr. Steve Mauger is employed as a Membership Advisor at Beau Sejour and also delivery driver for the Island's main Fairtrade shop. He has been an active supporter of Christian Aid for over 30 years, acted as its Bailiwick of Guernsey Organiser, supported Traidcraft and has been involved with Fairtrade since 2005.

Mr. Philip Bodman is an accountant and graduate in agricultural economics, with ten years experience in overseas development work in Peru, Honduras and Papua New Guinea. Mr Bodman work with the UK's Overseas Development Administration (the predecessor to the UK Department for International Development). Mr. Bodman is also Missions Treasurer at Holy Trinity Church and the Church's Mission Fund provides support to overseas projects.

Miss Judy Moore is one of the Programme Leaders with the Institute of Health and Social Care. She has taught disaster preparedness activities in Sri Lanka, and been directly involved in supporting small projects undertaken in Sri Lanka. Miss Moore has been a volunteer with St John Ambulance for over 30 years and has used that experience to support her voluntary work overseas.

Dr. Nick Paluch is a semi-retired Medical Practitioner and in 2007 was called to the English Bar as a non-practising Barrister of Lincoln's Inn. He has undertaken volunteer work in less developed countries whilst also maintaining an independent involvement in fundraising and overseas aid support activities, including visiting several projects that have benefitted from financial support provided by Guernsey.

Ms Teresa de Nobrega was called to the Guernsey Bar in 2011. She has experience of both visiting less developed countries and initiating various charitable fundraising activities. She is an active local supporter of a number of NGOs including UNICEF, the International Red Cross and Amnesty International.

2. Staff Changes

In September 2012, Mr. Donald Eddie resigned as Secretary to the Commission. Mr. Eddie had served as Secretary since January 2010.

Mr. Eddie had a great personal interest in overseas aid and this was reflected in the commitment and understanding he brought to his role. Also, his ability to keep abreast of the various name changes for many of the countries in which the projects are located was second to none and will undoubtedly be missed.

The Commission wishes to formally record its sincere appreciation to Mr. Eddie for his hard work, commitment, support and advice to the Commissioners.

Mr. Eddie was replaced by Ms. Elizabeth Dene. Ms. Dene is an experienced civil servant and her appointment is on a half-time basis. Ms. Dene is based at Sir Charles Frossard House and, whilst appointed to the Commission on a part-time basis, is available daily during office hours to deal with any enquiries that arise.

3. Commission Budget

In January 2012, the States of Deliberation resolved,

"1. That the States of Guernsey maintain its current level of contribution (+RPIX) per annum.

2. That the States of Guernsey monitor the level of Overseas Aid expenditure with a view to reconsidering it once there is a higher degree of certainty over corporate taxation and when the fiscal position improves, or within 5 years, whichever is sooner."

The Commission's Grant Aid Budget for 2012 was £2,600,000 and its Disaster Emergency Relief budget was £200,000.

The Commission is grateful to the States of Deliberation that, despite a challenging economic climate and budget cuts across States Departments, this remains an important area of Guernsey's international profile. The Commission believes that through its Grant Aid programmes positive and lasting changes are made to the lives of some of the world's poorest people.

4. 2012 Grant Aid Awards

In 2012 the Commission received 185 applications from 109 different charities and humanitarian agencies.

The applications came from large well-known charities as well as many small charities, including several charities registered in Guernsey and Jersey or with strong Channel Island links, e.g. charities which have been set up by former Guernsey residents.

The applications for Grant Aid amounted to £6,433,076 and ranged from applications for £4,400 towards the costs of shipping a container from Guernsey to Tanzania to a number of applications for £40,000 (the Commission's general maximum level for Grant Aid awards).

The Commission approved funding for 80 individual projects for a range of projects (see Appendix 1 for the details of the projects the Commission supported in 2012 and Appendix 2 for the details of the unsuccessful applications). Many of the projects which did not receive funding were excellent applications but the Commission's budget did not allow it to support every project it assessed as meriting a Grant Aid award.

Table 1 provides an overview of the Grant Aid awards by project category and region. Nearly 70% of all awards were for projects in Africa. These figures compare to 66.7% of all applications for Grant Aid received in 2012 being for projects in Africa, 11.8% being located in the Indian Sub-Continent, 2.3% in Latin or South America, 1.6% in the Caribbean Islands and 17.6% for projects in Asia and the Pacific.

The Commission supported projects which will deliver humanitarian aid to improve a community's basic living needs and conditions.

The Commission has four broad categories for the projects it considers for funding and examples of the types of projects which may qualify for funding are set out below.

(i) Agricultural, horticultural or fishing projects

These projects may include:

- Protecting the land from e.g. desertification, leaching, deforestation, etc
- Providing conservation and environmental rehabilitation programmes and training in improved agricultural techniques to counter problems caused by droughts, flooding and deforestation leading to soil erosion and desertification, etc
- Providing a sustainable source of employment and income for the community
- Enabling the community to reduce any dependency on food aid, etc.

(ii) Health care, vaccination, disease prevention programmes and public health

These projects may include:

- Providing local access to basic health services, in particular where this is related to services targeting reducing the spread of preventable diseases, the spread or management of HIV and AIDS infection, maternity and obstetric care, etc
- Enabling medical staff already working in the area to deliver basic health care services to more people or across the wider geographic area
- Reducing the incidence of infant mortality and childhood deaths
- Eradicating preventable diseases such as malaria and eye conditions such as trachoma, glaucoma and diabetic retinopathy
- Establishing new or extending existing health service facilities, including clinics and hospitals.

(iii) Education and training projects

These projects may include:

- Establishing or extending existing schools or other educational facilities
- Enabling teachers already working in the area to deliver basic educational services to more people or across the wider geographic area
- Providing long-term training opportunities to enable the local community to reduce its dependence on other forms of short-term aid and so increase the community's self-sufficiency and long-term sustainability.

(iv) Integrated development projects including

(a) Sustainable supply of clean water

These projects may include:

- Providing wells, water pumps and other sources of clean water close to established communities and settlements

- Supporting other long-term humanitarian aid projects, e.g. by providing a source of water for irrigation for agricultural and horticultural projects, etc
- Improving the quality and/or sustainability of any existing sources of water
- Reducing the requirement for communities to travel long distances to obtain water
- Reducing the likelihood of water-borne diseases or illness.

(b) Basic sanitation facilities

These projects may include:

- Clean water projects
- Reducing illness and disease as a result of the unmanaged disposal of sewages, etc
- Other long-term or sustainable aid projects, particularly where linked to health and medical care and educational projects.

(c) Other types of projects

These projects may include:

- Improving disaster preparedness, particularly in areas which are at a high risk of natural disasters, including floods, earthquakes and hurricanes
- Rehabilitation projects following a period of war, conflict or in areas rebuilding their basic infrastructure following a period under oppressive political rule, etc
- Rotating loan funds, micro-credit unions, village savings scheme.

Figures 3 and 4 show how the Commission's 2012 Grant Aid budget was distributed across the four project categories. Figure 3 shows what percentage of the Commission's Grant Aid budget was spent on each category of project. Figure 4 provides an overview of the requests for Grant Aid by project type against the projects which received funding from the Commission.

5. Feedback from 2012 Grant Aid Awards

An integral aspect of all Grant Aid awards is a requirement for the charities to provide two reports. This is an obligatory requirement for every Grant Aid award and non-compliance with the reporting requirements will result in the Commission not accepting any further applications for funding from the charity until all outstanding reports have been submitted.

The first report must be submitted part way through the project. As most projects are delivered over a 12 month period, this report is generally submitted approximately six months after the commencement of the project.

The interim reports provide an overview of the progress of the project. The charity is required to indicate how work on delivering the project is progressing against the objectives set out in its application for funding and must include details of how and how much of the Grant Aid award has been spent. Where feasible, the Commission encourages a charity to include photographs of the project and also to address how the delivery of the project is benefiting the community. The Commission recognises that for construction projects such benefits may not be apparent during the construction stage.

The second report must be submitted on completion of the project or within fourteen months of the date of the award (whichever is the earliest date).

The final report must include an overview of the full delivery of the project and how the overall objectives of the project have been achieved. The Commission also requires the charity to provide a budget showing the final costs against the approved budget.

The report must also address how the project has and will continue to benefit the community. This should include reference to both direct and indirect beneficiaries and these numbers should be referenced against the anticipated numbers of direct and indirect beneficiaries set out in the approved application. If the number of beneficiaries is different from the approved application, the report should explain why the differences have arisen.

Copies of the final reports for each of the projects funded in 2012 can be found on the Commission's website – www.gov.gg/overseasaid.

In 2012, the Commission funded seven projects submitted by charities wither registered in the Channel Island or with strong connections to the Islands (four from Guernsey and three from Jersey).

The seven awards amounted to £192,762 (7.4% of the Commission's Grant Aid budget). Table 2 below provide a synopsis of the seven projects.

WASOT- UK international	Health	Water, sanitation and hygiene integrated project, Kisumu and Siaya Counties, Kenya	£23,548

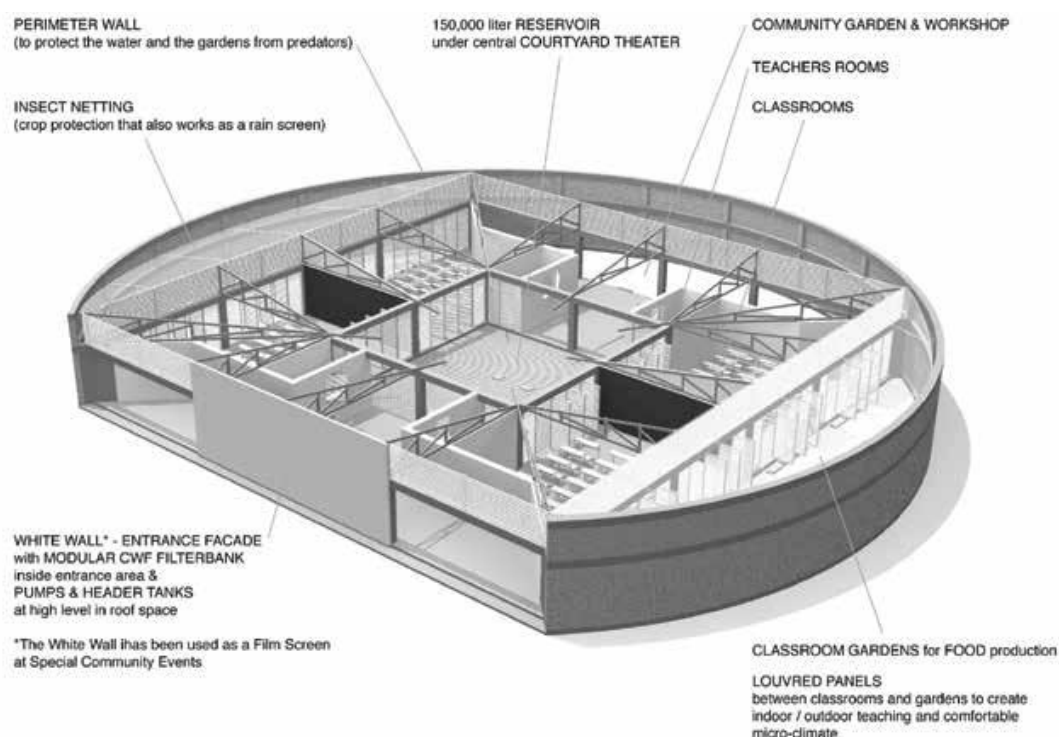

The Commission has received update and final reports from each of the charities, setting out how work on delivering the project is progressing and how the benefits of the Commission's funding is already improving the lives and basic needs of the communities where the projects are located. A brief synopsis of each of the projects is set out below.

Ellen Jane Rihoy Charitable Trust - Segera schools infrastructure development project, Uaso Nyiro Primary School, Laikipia East

The Ellen Jane Rihoy Charitable Trust is a Guernsey registered charity established by Rihoy and Son Building Contractors which supports projects in the Laikipi district in eastern Kenya. Since 2000, the charity has been providing financial support to improve the livelihoods and opportunities by supporting institutions that have demonstrated that, with a small amount of initial seed funding and external support, they have the energy, commitment and dedication to address the problems facing their own communities.

Uaso Nyiro Primary School in the Laikipia East district of Kenya, was jointly funded by the Commission and the Zeitz Foundation, with Guernsey-based charity, the Ellen Jane Rihoy Trust, facilitating the project and acting as financial administrator. The school has facilities to educate 700 children and this includes four classrooms, teachers' rooms, vegetable gardens, a courtyard theatre, workshop and community space, which will be used for health projects and other local initiatives that strengthen the school and local community.

The school, which is an area with just 600mm of rainfall a year, has also been designed to ease water shortages by using an innovative system to collect, store and filter rainwater. The unique “Waterbank” design will see the school’s 600m² roof catchment area collecting more than 350,000 litres of water each year.

Picture 1 – WATERBANK school design

Each of the students receives five litres of water a day with the aim of reducing illness and malnutrition and in turn lead to fewer school absences, improve study results and reduce youth unemployment. The construction of the school will also improve gender equality as the girls who typically spend hours collecting water will be able to attend school instead.

Picture 2 – The Uaso Nyiro Primary School

In May 2013, the Uaso Nyiro Waterbank School building was shortlisted, alongside another development for the US Green Building Council's "Earth's Greenest School" Award. This is significant accolade for a small project of this nature. The 2012 winner of this award was a multi-million dollar school development in Bali. Being shortlisted recognises the low cost of the school development (Uaso Nyiro school cost under US$100 per square metre), that the design and technology are replicable globally and stand to make a real and sustainable contribution to school design in water scarce environments.

Good News Trust! - God Agulu Primary School

The Good News Trust is a Jersey registered charity working principally in Kenya and Mozambique to relieve poverty and assist the poor in achieving their potential. In Kenya, it supports community development projects in Oyugis, a small town in Western Kenya near Lake Victoria. This included building schools, protecting springs for clean water and building latrines to improve sanitation. In Mozambique it works in partnership with the local church to run a day care centre for orphans and street children.

The Commission's award was to enable the charity to rebuild the original school which was destroyed by a freak storm. This meant that the children had had no option but to take their classes in the open air, being sent home when it rained. This school is the main feeder school to God Agulu Secondary School which the Commission funded in 2011. The charity's interim report, which was received in October 2012, stated,

"The school is 10km from Oyugis and thankfully the road had recently been repaired which made access much easier. Firstly the position of the new school was changed after consultation, as this made the compound bigger. The community volunteers cleared the site and dug the foundations and the latrines."

Hope for a Child - Helping families and communities rise from poverty, rural Uganda

Hope for a Child is a Guernsey registered charity which aims to help the poorest people in Uganda and Malawi to rise out of poverty, by providing access to basic financial services. It provides local trainers, who help groups of mainly women to save their money, lend to each other and start businesses. The charity's philosophy is to provide help-up not a hand out.

The aim of this project is to support communities, households and individuals that suffer from the effects of poverty by providing a safe, simple and profitable community based financial service in the form of Village Savings and Loans (VSL).

Provision of these schemes enables individuals to help themselves, promoting empowerment rather than dependence. Households learn how to save and effectively manage their cash-flow. Providing poor rural households with access to financial services through the development of VSL methodology is intended to enhance child welfare. As households rise out of poverty they can afford to send children to school, buy mosquito nets, shoes and provide at least one good meal a day.

The charity is working in partnership with two local agencies:

- Rural Effort for Action in Development (READ) – based in the Nakasongola and Kiryangogo districts of Luwero county, and focusing on enabling the areas poorest people to improve their quality of life through VSLA schemes.
- National Union of Disabled People in Uganda (NUDIPU) – based in Bugiri county and specialising in assisting people with disabilities who are living in chronic poverty.

Through its partnership with READ nearly 70 VSL groups have been established supporting over 1,100 people. As a result of this initial work READ was already assisting the people to establish some 446 businesses and over 10,000 children had benefited indirectly from the Commission's funding because their families had improved financial stability to meet their day-to-day needs.

Picture 4 – Bright Future Children Group, Tiiti Kigumba

The charity's report also listed the following feedback from a number of individual beneficiaries of a Village Scheme Loan,

- One lady said she had been able to buy chicken feed meaning she had eggs to feed her children and was able to sell the surplus to further support her family
- Another lady had been able to buy mattresses and school uniforms for her ten children who are now able to attend school
- One man had purchased a saw and established his own timber business
- Another lady had purchased a sewing machine and established her own clothes making and repair business
- Another lady, looking after her orphaned grandchildren, had purchased a cow and was now able to support herself and her grandchildren by selling milk.

The partnership with NUDIPU had led to the appointment of five community-based trainers. These trainers had already overseen the creation of eight VSL groups which were assisting some 75 smaller groups, each comprising eighteen disabled people. The work was already promoting a saving culture and members were starting to set up small business ventures, including selling vegetables, repairing and making clothes and shoes and charcoal burning. The incomes from these businesses were already enabling some of the communities poorest people to become financial secure and in addition to meeting their day-to-day needs they were able to pay for schools fees and so hopefully secure a better future for their children.

Inter Christians' Fellowship Evangelical Mission - Developing rural health services in Bungoma, North Kimilili, Western Kenya

The Inter Christians' Fellowship Evangelical Mission is an indigenous Kenyan organisation based in Kimilili, Western Kenya which has a strong Guernsey connection through St. Martin's Parish Church. The charity's aim is to transform rural communities through development and innovative provision of medical care, agricultural development, education, youth and family work, relief and welfare, education, savings and enterprise.

The interim report, which was received in October 2012, stated,

“As soon as news of the grant reached the team the planning began and we visited government, private and mission hospitals in order to gain a good understanding of the best design of the buildings and lay out of the site. Rough plans were drawn up, with the aim to ensure that we provided a hygienic and compact surgical theatre for a wide range of operations.

On 11th September 2012 all the plans had been approved, signed, stamped and paid and the following day the foundations of the staff accommodation, both wards and theatre all started to be dug by the builders. Next the casting of the foundation slabs took place. Materials for this have had to be transported from all around the country. The stones arrived by the tractor load up the muddy road, with the builders sitting on top of them in the trailer. The cement travelled over 400 Km from Nairobi over pot holed roads. The lorry finally arrived and it was then down to a very dedicated team to unload 800 bags of cement. At 1.30am in the morning, and having stayed awake by drinking a lot of sugary tea, the task was finally accomplished!”

Picture 6 – Construction work on the foundations for the new hospital wards

The final report stated,

“Once completed the project will be providing care to disadvantaged rural communities. It is located within a region of high unemployment and poverty levels, so is providing local and accessible services to these patients.

The project has built on the working relationship with both the government and the local communities. Partnership working with the Government hospitals has advanced significantly over the project period. The local communities have been involved throughout this project. The combination of using local building materials and tradesmen has meant economic benefits leading to further improvements in quality of life for their families, enabling them to support themselves.”

Tumaini Fund – Assistance with costs of shipping container of educational for schools in the Kagera District

The Tumaini Fund is a Guernsey registered charity aiming to alleviate the suffering of the Aids widows and orphans in Kagera, the north-west province of Tanzania. The charity is run by local GPs, Drs. Douglas and Susan Wilson and it currently supports over 20,000 orphans.

The Commission's contribution to the Tumaini Fund was one of the smallest Grant Aid awards made in 2012. In her application, Dr. Wilson, the charity's founder, stated,

"The Tumaini Fund's aim is to alleviate the terrible suffering of the Aids widows and orphans in the region. Average life expectancy is just 43, around a third of the population are HIV positive and a subsistence farmer earning around £55 each year and supporting up to eight family members.

Education was the only way for the youngsters to escape what was a hand-to-mouth existence. Primary schooling is free in Tanzania, but children cannot enrol unless they have school uniforms, books and pencils, which often makes it impossible. Just seven percent will go onto secondary education. We are currently supporting over 8,000 secondary school pupils at a cost of £250,000 a year."

The £4,400 from the Commission allowed the charity to finalise arrangements for shipping a container of supplies donated by businesses and residents in Guernsey, including 200 computers donated by HSBC, medical supplies donated by the Princess Elizabeth Hospital and doctors surgeries, educational supplies given by schools, chemistry equipment donated by Blanchelande College and sports equipment from Fletchers Sports.

The container was donated by Rihoy and Son Building Contractors and Alderney Shipping have underwritten the shipping costs from Guernsey to Flexistowe. The Commission's grant will cover the shipping costs to Tanzania and transport from Dar es Salaam to Kagera.

The container arrived in Kagera on 14th May 2013 and was received with much excitement and great appreciation for the kindness of the people of Guernsey for their donations and support with the shipping and transport costs.

WASOT- UK International - Community women and children support groups empowerment project, Nyando and Muhoroni

WASOT- UK International is a UK registered charity with strong Jersey connections in that the charity was established in 2000 to support Dr. Hezron Mc'Obewa, a Keynan national who studied at Jersey's Victoria College in the late 1990s. The charity's aim is to provide support for a range of educational and healthcare projects in Ombeyi, near Kisumu, Kenya where Dr. Mc'Obewa now works as a doctor.

The project saw the construction of greenhouses for six post test groups targeting women and children living positive to address nutritional challenges they face while taking their anti retro viral drugs. The project also proposed to train the groups on how to manage greenhouse farming and on nutrition. The proceeding from the sale of the crops will be used to purchase food for the members of these groups. The project will benefit up to 120 women representing a total of 720-1000 persons directly, 250 Orphans and 30 men living with HIV. Twelve women were to be trained on management of greenhouse farming for future management and sustainability of the project.

The interim report, received in November 2012, identified the following achievements:

- Six green houses have been set up - three in both the Nyando and Muhoroni districts. Of these six, four have fully populated their greenhouses and expecting their first harvest. Two have been affected by flooding and have to restart the process through the help of agricultural extension officer who is working with the groups.
- Twenty four women leaders representing each of the six support groups of people living with HIV/AIDS have received training and continue to work on management, marketing and modern farming methods.
- Each greenhouse is providing full-time employment for three women
- The project employs up to eight women during peak harvesting times when tomatoes, English beans, peas, and kales are being harvested.

Picture 10 – One of the three greenhouses built in Nyando

In addition the report noted the following outcomes the charity had identified in delivering the project:

- This project is supporting some 120 households in villages where HIV/AIDS prevalence is high.
- With a new international airport in Kisumu the market for greenhouses and horticultural products is assured.

WASOT- UK International - Water, sanitation and hygiene integrated project, Kisumu and Siaya Counties

The project involved the construction of Ventilation Improved Pit Latrines (VIP) and hand washing stations within schools, churches and villages. The project seeks to improve the health status of people through education, training and encouragement of sanitation and hygiene practices, elimination of open defecation and expansion of the supply of safe water for drinking and washing amongst communities living in Greater Siaya and Kisumu.

The interim report, which was received in November 2012, identified the following initial achievements:

- Recruitment and training of field officers, public health officers, community health workers (and community leaders to deliver health and hygiene education leading to a reduction in number of cases of cholera, diarrheal illnesses etc.
- Organising and running hygiene education targeting women in households using participatory hygiene and sanitation transformation (water disinfection and storage, household waste management, and personal hygiene).
- Training of village and slum water and sanitation committees in management, system repairs, cost recovery, monitoring, and record-keeping to enable existing water points to be kept clean and free of contamination has been completed and executed.
- Installation of water storage tanks for rainwater harvesting in ten schools is complete and operational and additional sanitation facilities in local churches, schools and households to reduce spread of water borne disease and improve hygiene.

Picture 12 – One of the toilet blocks built in Kisumu

The interim report concluded that there remained tens of schools and village markets without proper sanitation and ablution blocks. The need for more investment in providing integrated water, sanitation and waste facilities remained a prime objective of the charity.

6. 2012 Disaster Emergency Relief Awards

The Commission's general policy for making Emergency Disaster Relief donations is to support the national public appeals launched by the UK Disaster Emergency Committee (the DEC) following a natural disaster or humanitarian crisis. It generally limits individual donations to £50,000 per DEC appeal.

The DEC did not launch any public appeals during 2012 in response to natural disasters or emergencies or a humanitarian crisis. However, in November 2012 the Commission received two requests for donations from its £200,000 Disaster Emergency Relief budget.

The Commission may make donations in response to natural disasters and humanitarian crises to individual charities outside of a DEC-led appeal. In such cases the Commission will liaise closely with the DEC to establish whether it is likely to be launching an appeal in the near future and, if not, its reasons for not doing so. The Commission will only consider such applications from charities with an established base in the region prior to the disaster or emergency, i.e. it requires the charity to be in a position commence the disaster emergency relief work immediately.

In addition, as a general rule the Commission will not make awards to individual agencies in the following circumstances:

- Where the Commission has already made a Disaster Emergency Relief award to the DEC for the same disaster or emergency.
- The disaster or emergency has not been widely publicised through the local or national media.
- Where, having reviewed how the charity proposes to spend the award, the Commission believes that an application for Grant Aid funding would be more appropriate.

ActionAid – To provide hygiene kits to families in Haiti following Hurricane Sandy

The first request was from ActionAid UK from assistance following the passage of Hurricane Sandy through the Caribbean on late October 2012.

ActionAid has been working in Haiti for many years and following the 2010 earthquake it has been providing assistance to communities to help them to rebuild lives through the provision of new homes, schools, sanitation and water supplies and other basic infrastructure requirements.

In November 2012, ActionAid UK requested a contribution from the Commission towards its emergency response appeal to provide emergency food, shelter and sanitation kits for the poorest and most vulnerable people in Haiti. The application stated:

“Between 24 and 26 October, Hurricane Sandy brought torrential rains and high winds to Haiti, causing widespread flooding and washing away people’s homes and farms. As well as the immediate damage caused by the hurricane, the destruction of crops and farms threatens to bring a grave food crisis. People have not only lost their current crops, but have lost seeds and equipment essential for next season’s harvest.”

In considering the request, the Commissioners were mindful that Haiti is still struggling to recover from the devastating impact of the earthquake which struck the island in 2010. It also noted that ActionAid UK was already actively working in Haiti and so was able to divert its resources to respond to the immediate post-Hurricane Sandy needs without losing sight of the wide rehabilitation work needed.

The Commissioners were also very conscious that, as Hurricane Sandy had also hit the eastern seaboard of the United States of America, media attention had largely focused on New York and the surrounding area. This had meant that the devastation which Haiti and other Caribbean Islands had suffered had largely gone unreported. The Commission was concerned that as the damage in Haiti, an already extremely poor and vulnerable country, had not hit the media headlines this may mean that the fund raising efforts of ActionAid UK and other charities working in Haiti would not be as effective as may otherwise have been the case.

“The hygiene kit I have received from ActionAid has the basics I need for my new baby who is due very soon. With the mosquito net my children will be safe from malaria and the chlorine and soap will keep our clothes clean.”

In agreeing to make a donation of £25,000 to ActionAid UK’s Haiti appeal, the Commissioners were very conscious that the impact of Hurricane Sandy on Haiti had been felt all the more because the country was already very vulnerable and struggling to rebuild its infrastructure and housing following the massive earthquake in 2010.

In its report to the Commission, ActionAid included the following case study to demonstrate how the disaster emergency relief funding from Guernsey had been used to rebuild a family's lives following the hurricane. Since her husband moved to the Dominican Republic to find work Isenara has supported her five children from the crops she grows on their small farm,

"Before the hurricane, farmers in the area made a good living from their farms. Produce from our lands was enough to allow us to feed our families all year round. When my husband left for the Dominican Republic, I took charge of our farmland where we grow plantain and sweet potatoes. With the income from the farm, I was easily able to support my family. But the hurricane storm just destroyed everything. And it is the same situation for almost all other farmers in the area. As we can no longer produce or sell crops, we also do not have money to buy any food"

Following the hurricane, ActionAid Haiti provided Isenara with emergency food rations and seeds and tools to enable her to replace the crops lost during the hurricane,

"In addition to the food I received, ActionAid also supported me with seeds and tools that I was in great need of. I now have a new machete and a new pick. I will be able to start over with my plantation and be able to provide for my family. Thank you so much for your support."

RED International – To provide food and winter supplies to refugees fleeing from the civil conflict in Syria to Lebanon

The second request was from RED International for assistance with work the charity was undertaking in the Lebanon and Jordan to support families fleeing the conflict in Syria. The applications stated.

"Our partners in Lebanon and Jordan are now preparing for the next phase of the emergency relief project where they will provide both food and winter supplies to refugees who continue to arrive from Syria. We would like to ask the Guernsey Overseas Aid Commission to consider awarding a grant for Emergency Relief of £40,000 towards the relief project serving Syrian Refugees in Lebanon. This would support 420 families or around 2,900 individuals. Full details are in the enclosed proposal. We would of course, be grateful for any amount the Trustees would consider awarding to this project."

The Commissioners concluded that the request did not satisfy the requirements of its policy for making such awards but agreed to make a contribution of £17,500 from its 2012 Grant Aid budget to assist with the work RED International was undertaking.

7. Review of the Commission's Policies and Procedures

In 2012, the Commission undertook a full review of its Grant Aid and Disaster Emergency Relief policies and its wider administration and governance, including:

- Objectives, policies, processes and administration;
- Compliance with regulations and policy;
- Reliability and integrity of data and management information;
- Monitoring, review and value for money; and
- Fraud risk management

Postscript:

The Commission completed its review in early 2013 and presented its proposals for revisions to its various policies to the Policy Council. The approved revised policies are set out in Appendices 3 to 5.

8. Looking Forward

During 2013, the Commission will be building on the review of its policies and procedures commenced in late 2012. The review has already resulted in a number of changes in how it discharges its mandate. However, the Commission is endeavouring to ensure that the charities applying for funding are kept informed of changes.

The Commission is also developing its website to ensure that its policies and decision making procedures are fully transparent. It is mindful that a great web-based presence may result in more charities applying for funding but it believes that this should be seen as a positive outcome in promoting Guernsey's long-standing commitment to overseas development.

In 2013, the Commission will also be focusing on how to develop programmes relating to the collection and distribution of funds involving the private and voluntary sectors in accordance with the second strand of its mandate. The Commission recognises that this aspect of its role will become increasingly important if the number of applications it receives increases as a result of its greater web presence.

The Commission is also very mindful that Islanders provide significant charitable support, including to several locally based charities that work to provide aid overseas. It acknowledges that Guernsey raises significant amounts of money each year for charities working in the world's least developed countries (ActionAid (Guernsey), Bridge2Haiti, Bridge2Sri Lanka, Christian Aid, Oxfam, the Red Cross, the Tumaini Fund, etc) and through public events such as the annual World Aid Walk.

Similarly, the Commission is aware of a number of existing programmes where Guernsey businesses actively support such charities. For example, a number of employers undertake pro bono work, e.g. auditing accounts, drafting trust documents, giving legal advice etc for charities and other support staff using their annual leave entitlement to work on overseas aid programmes, either by allowing them a period of paid leave of absence or assisting them with the financial costs of their trip, etc.

Finally, the Commission was very mindful that Guernsey is currently experiencing challenging economic circumstances and this may lead to comments that any funds and resources should be directed to local needs. However, despite such challenges and wealth distribution disparities across the community, Guernsey is a relatively wealthy community with a range of statutory and non-statutory agencies and organisations providing additional support. The Commission is very mindful that in the countries and regions receiving Grant Aid support there is no such safety net.

¹ The total amount of funding allocated exceeds the Commission's budget. The additional money reflects a redistribution of unspent balances from earlier projects which were returned to the Commission during 2012. The total also includes two projects which were approved but for various reasons were unable to proceed and therefore the Commissioners allocated this money to alternative projects it had been unable to initially support.

Appendix 3 – Grant Aid Policy (with effect from 1st May 2013)

1. Introduction

The Guernsey Overseas Aid Commission (the Commission) is a non-statutory, non-governmental body and was established in 2004 following the Review of the Machinery of Government.

The Commission's mandate is:

"To distribute monies voted by the States for overseas aid making contributions by way of grants and emergency and disaster relief;

To develop programmes relating to the collection and distribution of funds involving the private and voluntary sectors;

in accordance with policies set by the Policy Council, having regard to recommendations from the Commission."

The objectives of the Commission are to manage and administer the budget approved by the States of Guernsey for overseas aid.

The Commissioners are appointed by the States of Guernsey to make decisions about the distribution of the money voted by the States for overseas aid contributions on behalf of the people of Guernsey.

2. Background

Guernsey has been contributing to overseas development projects through the award of Grant Aid to approved charities and agencies since 1980.

The underlying purpose of the contributions made by the Commission, on behalf of the States of Guernsey, has remained unchanged.

"To support projects which will help to provide the basic needs of the world's least developed countries or to help the indigenous population to provide those needs."

Basic needs includes medical and health facilities, educational programmes and facilities, housing, water and sanitation provision and the means of sustaining a living, e.g. through agriculture, horticulture or through training in sustainable employment skills.

The Commission has always sought to direct its contributions to projects which will generate a lasting and sustainable improvement in the living conditions for the communities receiving the aid. This ethos underpins how all applications for Grant Aid will be assessed and is reflected in the assessment process and criteria and can be summarised as offering a "hand up" to some of the world's least developed areas rather than simply giving them a "hand out".

3. The Applicant

The Commission's general policy is to only consider applications from:

- Charities registered with one of the Charity Commissions in the British Isles
- Approved humanitarian agencies (e.g. UNICEF, UNHCR, etc)

If an agency is not a British Isles registered charity or an approved humanitarian agency, it is advised to contact the Commission's Secretary prior to making an application for Grant Aid.

4. The Location of the Project

As indicated above, the Commission was established to,

"To support projects which will help to provide the basic needs of the world's least developed countries or to help the indigenous population to provide those needs."

As a general rule, the Commission will give priority for funding to countries on the OECD Development Co-operation Directorate List of Least Developed Countries (the DAC list) or at the lower end of the UN Human Development Index.

Where the country concerned is not on the DAC List or at the lower end of the UN Human Development Index, the Commission is will require the charity to set out why there are exceptional reasons to support this project over one in a less developed country.

Similarly, any applications for projects in the Federal Republic of Brazil, the Russian Federation, the Republic of India and People's Republic of China (sometimes referred to as BRIC countries) and projects in CIVETS countries (Colombia, Vietnam, Egypt, Turkey and South Africa) and Mexico and Thailand and other countries with emerging economies will be afforded a lower priority than less developed countries.

As a general rule, the Commission will expect projects in these countries to be supported in some way by the domestic government, e.g. either through a shared funding agreement or an undertaking to guarantee funding for salaries or the ongoing support of the project.

The Commission is mindful that in many countries there are significant disparities in the distribution of wealth. For this reason, the Commission does not have a list of countries from which it will or will not consider applications. However, as a general rule, the Commission does not accept applications for Grant Aid for projects in European Countries. Whether the Commission makes an award for a European-based project will depend entirely on the individual circumstances of each case.

The Commission is apolitical in nature and will only consider a country's political situation insofar as there may be a concern that the project would not be able to proceed due to an oppressive political regime or government corruption. In all cases, the Commission will require the charity to explain how it would overcome any pressures which may compromise the successful delivery of the project.

5. The Project

The Commission's Grant Aid policy has always focused on projects which will deliver basic humanitarian aid to improve a community's basic living needs and conditions.

In defining "basic needs", the Commission will focus on projects focused on the provision of:

Sustainable supply of clean water

These projects may include:

- Providing wells, water pumps and other sources of clean water close to established communities and settlements
- Supporting other long-term humanitarian aid projects, e.g. by providing a source of water for irrigation for agricultural and horticultural projects, etc
- Improving the quality and/or sustainability of any existing sources of water
- Reducing the requirement for communities to travel long distances to obtain water
- Reducing the likelihood of water-borne diseases or illness.

Basic sanitation facilities

These projects may include:

- Clean water projects
- Reducing illness and disease as a result of the unmanaged disposal of sewages, etc
- Other long-term or sustainable aid projects, particularly where linked to health and medical care and educational projects.

Agricultural, horticultural or fishing projects

These projects may include:

- Protecting the land from e.g. desertification, leaching, deforestation, etc
- Providing conservation and environmental rehabilitation programmes and training in improved agricultural techniques to counter problems caused by droughts, flooding and deforestation leading to soil erosion and desertification, etc
- Providing a sustainable source of employment and income for the community
- Enabling the community to reduce any dependency on food aid, etc.

Medical and health care facilities

These projects may include:

- Providing local access to basic health services, in particular where this is related to services targeting reducing the spread of preventable diseases, the spread or management of HIV and AIDS infection, maternity and obstetric care, etc
- Enabling medical staff already working in the area to deliver basic health care services to more people or across the wider geographic area
- Reducing the incidence of infant mortality and childhood deaths
- Eradicating preventable diseases such as malaria and eye conditions such as trachoma, glaucoma and diabetic retinopathy
- Establishing new or extend existing health service facilities.

Educational projects

These projects may include:

- Establishing or extending existing schools or other educational facilities
- Enabling teachers already working in the area to deliver basic educational services across the wider geographic area
- Providing long-term training opportunities to enable the local community to reduce its dependence on other forms of short-term aid and so increase the community's self-sufficiency and long-term sustainability.

Other types of projects

These projects may include:

- Improving disaster preparedness, particularly in high risk areas
- Rehabilitation projects following a period conflict to rebuild basic infrastructure
- Rotating loan funds, micro-credit unions, village savings scheme

The above examples are not an exhaustive list of the types of projects the Commission will generally consider for Grant Aid. Where an application appears that it may fall outside the Commission's general policy, the charity is encouraged to contact the Commission's Secretary, before submitting the application, to discuss whether or not the project is likely to fall within the scope of projects for which Grant Aid may be awarded.

The Commission does not provide Grant Aid as a core funding of the charity's administration or operational costs, nor salaries of staff employed by the charity including any staff who may be working on the project in the local area or within the charity's UK base, staff training or towards the costs of running or attending seminars or conferences.

As a general rule, the Commission will not fund short-term projects as one of the primary purposes of its Grant Aid awards is to fund projects that make a sustainable improvement to the basic needs of very poor communities over a longer period without the reliance on year-on-year overseas aid funding. They type of shorter term projects which the Commission will generally not consider for a Grant Aid award include immediate post-disaster (natural or as a result of conflict, etc) rehabilitation projects, projects supporting refugees and other displaced persons (e.g. services and facilities within refugee camps). These types of projects may however be eligible for funding though the Commission's Disaster Emergency Relief Fund (see General Policy for Disaster Emergency Relief Funding).

The Commission may also reject an application where it believes that the project may result in conflict between e.g. neighbouring communities, etc or would otherwise disadvantage other nearby or neighbouring communities.

6. The Grant Aid Award

(a) Level of Awards

As a general rule, the Commission will not make an annual Grant Aid award above £40,000 for an individual project or a multi-year award for more than £100,000 over three years (i.e. multi-year awards are based on a series of annual awards). There is no lower threshold for Grant Aid awards.

The Commission will consider projects where part of the funding is being provided from other sources. It recognises that in many cases, the charity making the application may have raised money from other sources including donations to the charity itself.

In achieving this aim, the Commission is mindful that, given its general Grant Aid threshold, some applications may be dependent on co-funding. Similarly, the Commission recognises that in some cases funding from sources such as itself may “unlock” other funding, e.g. funding through the European Development Fund is often dependent on such shared third party funding.

(b) Number of applications per annum

As a general rule the Commission limits the number of applications a single charity may make in a particular funding year to four applications.

The number of multi-year applications will generally be limited to one per year and will be counted as one of the four applications a charity may submit.

(c) Period of an award

The Commission’s general policy is to fund annual projects, i.e. the project should be commenced and completed within the twelve months following the making of the award.

The Commission recognises that in a number of cases applications are submitted year on year by a charity which results in on-going funding for the development of a wider project on an incremental basis. In order to provide greater certainty in respect of the overall delivery of such projects, the Commission will consider applications for funding over a longer period, up to a maximum of three years. Such applications must fully explain how the project will be managed and monitored over the funding period and include a detailed cash flow.

In all cases, grants will be released as a series of stage payments and the charity will be required to provide a progress report before these payments are released. The Commission may also attached additional conditions and reporting requirements as it believes necessary and reasonable to ensure that delivery of the project as set out in the application.

(d) Payment of Awards

- (i) Annual awards - the general policy is to pay annual awards in two instalments. The first instalment will be released three to four weeks before the project is due to commence subject to receipt of the completed agreement form which will be sent to the charity when the Commission confirms that an award has been approved.

The first payment will generally be for 50 percent of the Grant Aid award. The second instalment will be made on receipt of the interim report, subject to the Commission being satisfied that the project is being delivered in accordance with the approved application proposal.

- (ii) Multi-year awards - the general policy is to pay multi-year awards as a series of stage payments. The amount and timing for each instalment will be agreed between the Commission and the charity following approval of the project and will reflect the type of project, the overall funding period and the size of the total award.

Each instalment will be made following receipt of a satisfactory interim report. The Commission will review these reports to ensure that the project is being delivered in accordance with the approved application proposal.

7. Evaluation of Applications

The Commission receives a large number of applications for Grant Aid funding (in recent years the number of applications has been between 180 and 200 per year) and the amount of funding sought is significantly more than the Commission's budget (here again, in recent years the Commission has received Grant Aid applications for between £6 and £7 million per year). On average the Commission is unable to support about two-thirds of applications.

Each project is considered on its own merits and balanced against the various criteria. No weighting is applied to any of the individual criteria and there is no scoring system. In many cases, the Commission has no option other than to reject an application because it simply does not have the budget to support all the projects it might wish.

The Commission's procedure for evaluating applications for Grant Aid is in four parts:

- (i) Charity or agency checks – including compliance with Charity Commission regulations, the charity's fund raising history, the proportion of the charity's income spent on income generation and governance; where previous Grant Aid awards have been made, the compliance with the Commission's monitoring and reporting requirements; in addition, the Commission may contact the Jersey or Isle of Man Overseas Aid Committees as a further probity check.
- (ii) Project location checks – including position on OECD Development Co-operation Directorate List of Least Developed Countries and UN Human Development Index, the political situation in the country, particularly where the government is unstable or repressive, whether the country is subject of any UN or other international sanctions, the country's human rights record, etc.
- (iii) Project objectives checks – including looking at the projects objectives, how it will benefit the community, how many people will benefit, directly or indirectly, from the funding, the sustainability of the project without reliance on further overseas aid funding, the reasonableness of the time frame for delivering the project, whether the needs of the beneficiaries have been fully identified, whether all logistical issues have been considered and planned for, whether the project has been well thought out etc.
- (iv) Project budget checks – including assessing the reasonableness of the proposed spending on the project, the cash flow projection, the level of detail, the cost-effectiveness, whether the proposed spending appears to support the objectives of the project, the level of any administrative costs, including travel expenses and monitoring and evaluation costs, etc. Where a project is co-funded it should be clearly explained, including the timescales for such agreements.

In addition, the Commission may take into consideration any issues which may have wider public concern to Guernsey.

The Commission reviews all the applications and, where the application has satisfied the general application procedure, the projects are assessed against the above general criteria.

8. Notification of Decisions

Due to the large number of applications received, the Commission is unable to consider all applications at the same time.

As a general rule, the Commission considers applications for Grant Aid between December of the preceding year and March of the year in which the award is made. The Commission generally holds three or four funding meetings between December and early March.

The Commission will advise the charities of its decision as soon as it is able following determination. In some cases, the Commission may defer an application to request additional information or clarification of some aspect of the application.

(a) Successful applications

Where an application is approved the charity will be asked to confirm that the project is still able to proceed as set out in the application and the anticipated start date. The charity is also required to sign a simple agreement which sets out the amount of the award, the purpose for which the award is made and the reporting requirements.

The Commission will not release the Grant Aid award until the signed agreement has been received and the payments of the award will be made as set out in Section 6(d) above.

(b) Unsuccessful applications

Where an application is rejected the Commission will use its best endeavours to provide feedback to the unsuccessful applicants. In many cases, the reason for refusing an application is simply because the Commission's budget is not able to support all applications that satisfies the general criteria and may merit funding.

The Commission will, in general terms, advise the charity as to any aspects of the unsuccessful application which were unclear, lacking in detail or not within the general funding criteria.

9. Monitoring and Evaluation of Grant Aid Awards

The monitoring and evaluation of Grant Aid awards is a fundamental aspect of the Commission's work. The Commission will set out the reporting time frame when confirming a Grant Aid award and this will be adjusted as necessary depending on the nature of the project receiving funding.

(a) Annual Awards

The Commission requires two reports to be submitted.

The first obligatory report is the Interim Report. As a general rule this report should be submitted between six and eight months following the release of the Grant Aid award by the Commission. This report will serve to trigger the release of the second instalment of the Grant Aid award, subject to the Commission being satisfied that the project is progressing in accordance with the approved application.

The second obligatory report is the Final Report. As a general rule this should be submitted within two months of completion of the project or no later than fourteen months after the payment of the first Grant Aid instalment, whichever is the sooner.

The Commission recognises that local circumstances may have an impact on the feasibility of reporting within the above general timescales. It is therefore happy to accept reports outside the general timescales, subject to the charity contacting the Commission's Secretary prior to the date on which the report is due and setting out the reasons for the delay.

(b) Multi-Year Awards

The obligatory reports will be confirmed with the charity and will vary according to the type of the project and the period over which the award is being made. The interim reporting requirements will be directly linked to when each instalment is to be paid. The Commission will require an interim report before agreeing to release further instalments.

As with annual Grant Aid awards a final report will be required should be submitted within two months of completion of the project or no later than eight months after the payment of the final Grant Aid instalment, whichever is the sooner.

(c) Interim Report/s

The interim report/s should provide a concise overview of the progress of the project and include reference to the overall objectives of the project and the spending against the approved budget.

Where feasible, the interim report/s should also address how the delivery of the project is benefiting the community. The Commission recognises that where a project involves the construction of a new facility such direct or indirect benefits may not be apparent during the construction stage.

The Commission requires the report to be comprehensive and informative rather than necessarily being especially glossy. The inclusion of photographs are always helpful to the Commission in understand how the project is progressing.

(d) Final Report

The final report should provide a concise overview of the full delivery of the project and this should reflect to the overall objectives of the project and the final costs against the approved budget. It must also address how the project has and will continue to benefit the community.

This report should include reference to both direct and indirect beneficiaries and these numbers should be referenced against the anticipated numbers of direct and indirect beneficiaries set out in the approved application. If the number of beneficiaries is different from the approved application, the report should explain why the differences have arisen.

The Commission requires the report to be comprehensive and informative rather than necessarily being especially glossy. The inclusion of photographs are always helpful to the Commission in understand how the project is benefiting the community.

(e) Other reporting requirements

In addition to the obligatory reporting requirements set out above, the Commission requires funded charities to notify it of any material changes in circumstances, without delay, which may impact on how the project is delivered. Such reports should clearly outline,

- What has changed
- What steps the charity has taken to mitigate the change in circumstances
- How the charity proposes to overcome the change in circumstances
- What impact the change of circumstances will have on the costs of the project
- The length of any delay to the overall project timetable.

Where the change in circumstances will have an impact on the approved project budget a revised budget must be included with the report.

Further, the charity must ensure that no further money is spent on the project until it has received confirmation from the Commission that the revised project has been approved. The Commission reserves the right to require a charity to return all or part of the Grant Aid award where it is satisfied that it would be appropriate and reasonable to do so.

(e) Non-compliance with the reporting requirements

As stated above, the reporting is a fundamental requirement for all Grant Aid awards. Therefore, non-compliance is viewed very seriously by the Commission.

The Commission has a range of sanctions available to it, including:

- Agreeing a revised reporting deadline with the charity where it is satisfied that non-compliance was due to factors outside the reasonable control of the charity
- Issuing a warning notice to a charity, advising that a breach has occurred and may be taken into consideration when considering future applications over a specified period
- Requiring the charity to return some or all of the Grant Aid award

- Automatically rejecting future applications from the charity for a specified period.

In all cases where the Commission believes some action should be taken, the charity will be provided with reasons for the Commission's decision and given an opportunity to ask for the decision to be reviewed, varied or quashed.

(f) Return of unspent balances

If the project is achieved under budget the Commission requires all unspent balances to be returned to the Commission without delay and in any case no later than the date for submission of the final report, i.e. generally no later than twelve months after the original award was made.

As a general rule, the Commission will not consider applications to divert unspent balances into alternative projects. Any such applications will be considered in the same way as other stand alone applications. The reason for this rule is because the Commission is very mindful that it receives significantly more applications for Grant Aid than it can fund and currently rejects 70 to 75 percent of all applications.

(g) Non-delivery of approved projects

If for any reason a charity is unable to proceed with a project for which funding has been granted, the charity must notify the Commission's Secretary without delay. The charity must also ensure that no further monies from the approved award are spent and submit a report explaining:

- Why the project cannot proceed as approved
- How far the project had progressed
- How much of the Grant Aid award has been spent and on what.

The report should also address whether the problems are such that the project is unlikely to be able to proceed at all or the anticipated length of any delay in completing the project. The report must include a comparative budget, showing how much money and on what has already been spent against the approved budget.

As a general rule, the Commission will require a charity to return any unspent balances without delay. The Commission will re-release any returned money, if, during the funding year, the charity is able to confirm with the Commission that the situation has further changed and the project can now proceed as originally approved.

(h) Non-compliance with funding agreements

In addition to the above internal sanctions which the Commission may impose for non-compliance with its audit, financial management and reporting requirements, the Commission may also notify the Charity Commission with which the charity is registered of the breach and its actions to rectify the position. In these circumstances the Commission will have pre-warned the charity of its intention to do so and will copy the report to the charity.

10. UN or other international sanctions

The Commission is very mindful that UN and other international sanctions are not applied lightly and are only applied after careful scrutiny and debate within the UN, etc. Such sanctions will have also been widely publicised through the international media and have been the subject of wide public and political debate.

The Commission is also very conscious that there may be what could be best described as “unintended consequences” following the imposition of sanctions. Such unintended consequences can include a significant impact on the daily lives of country’s population, particularly the poorest and most vulnerable members of the population. As a result there may be a heightened need for humanitarian aid.

The Commission is also mindful that such sanctions may be varied or removed and indeed imposed between the date on which the Commission may consider a Grant Aid application and the commencement of the project.

For this reason it will not automatically refuse applications where UN or international sanctions may be in force and requires the charity to explain how such sanctions may impact on the need for and the delivery of the project when submitting their application. The application should show a clear understanding of the scope and impact of any sanctions and on the community which will benefit from the proposed project.

The Commission will always take advice from the States of Guernsey’s External Relations Group. The final decision whether or not to accept an application will always rest with the Commission, however the advice from the External Relations Group will be central to informing the Commission’s decision.

This policy document should be read in conjunction with the Commission’s Guidance Notes for Charities applying for Grant Aid Funding

Appendix 4 – Disaster Emergency Relief Policy (with effect from 1st May 2013)

The Commission's general policy in respect of Emergency Disaster Relief awards is to supporting appeals launched by the DEC following a natural disaster or humanitarian crisis.

Disaster emergency aid funding will normally be provided for one of more of the following activities:

- Provision of water, sanitation, health services and emergency feeding programmes to disaster affected areas
- Provision of emergency shelter and clothing
- Distribution of emergency supplies
- Refugee protection and support activities
- Projects which address the rehabilitation of physical and institutional infrastructure following major emergencies.

In most cases, these awards will be to a maximum of £50,000 per disaster or emergency.

The Commission will exceptionally consider applications for individual charities for such awards. In assessing all such applications, the Commission will contact the DEC for advice and guidance as to the nature and extent of the disaster or emergency, the most pressing needs for humanitarian aid and details of other sources of aid being directed to the affected region. Similarly, the Commission will seek advice and guidance from the Policy Council External Relation Group on issues relating to international sanctions and other international relationship considerations which may arise.

In addition, when considering such applications the Commission will have regard to whether:

- The Commission has already given emergency aid to the DEC in respect of a particular emergency.
- Any public appeal launched by the applicant charity in response to the disaster or emergency has been well publicised.
- The applicant charity is either one of the DEC member agencies or a major UK-registered charity
- The applicant charity is already working in the region affected by the disaster or emergency and so is able to mobilize key staff and resources immediately.
- The applicant charity has relevant experience in responding to the particular disaster or emergency and the resources to respond effectively to the particular event.
- Any issues which may have wider public concern to Guernsey

As a general rule, the Commission is unlikely to make an award to an individual charity if the DEC advises that a national public appeal is likely to be launched within the near future.
