No unnecessary travel should take place in the Bailiwick, now or during the Easter break and those arriving by sea or by air must comply with current social isolation provisions (see further The Emergency Powers (Coronavirus) (Bailiwick of Guernsey) Regulations, 2020 made on 18th March which, together with other related legislation, can be found on the following link - <http://www.guernseylawofficers.gg/article/176933/COVID-19-information-and-documentation>)

Frequently Asked Questions -

What is social distancing?

Social distancing is deliberately increasing the physical space between people to avoid spreading illness and in the Bailiwick this means you should be at least 2 metres away from other people, if they are not members of your household. This lessens your chances of catching COVID-19.

What is meant by my household?

Your household means members of your immediate family, or other relatives or persons treated as members of your family who are residing with you in your dwelling, for the time being.

What is a dwelling?

A dwelling is your house, flat, or other place of residence including curtilage which is any area of land attached to your house, flat, or other place of residence and forming one enclosure with it.

What exercise can I undertake and with whom?

You can go walking, cycling, running, sea swimming or take part in other open sea activities for your own health and welfare for up to 2 hours every day together with members of your household, provided social distancing is maintained with any members of the public you may meet.

If you choose to take part in open sea activities, this is at your own risk and it may be advisable to have one other person with you, for safety reasons, provided that social distancing is maintained.

You may also exercise by yourself or with one other person who is not a member of your household, provided that social distancing measures are maintained.

Can I ride my horse?

Yes.

Can I take my pet/animal to the vet?

Yes, provided social distancing is maintained.

What shopping can I undertake and who can go with me?

You can attend any essential retail outlet (listed above) which includes, for example, your local supermarket, pharmacy, petrol station, dry cleaners, pet shops, either by yourself, with members of your household or with one other person provided, in the latter case, that social distancing is maintained.

Can I buy a new phone/repair an old one?

Yes if necessary now and provided that social distancing is maintained.

Can I order a takeaway?

Only takeaway services whose kitchen preparation space permits social distancing should operate in the present time. You cannot collect the takeaway, it must be home delivered and appropriate social distancing measures maintained. The prohibition on gatherings and meetings of not more than 2 people must be adhered to (i.e. only 1 person should deliver to you).

What does attending a medical or dental appointment mean?

This means attending the GP or dental surgery, to see a medical or dental practitioner or attending the hospital, as advised by your medical specialist. The directions provide that you may see essential workers for the provision of such essential services. You may also collect prescriptions from a pharmacy or shop in a pharmacy for any of their normal retail products, as needed.

Can I attend my optician or audiologist?

Yes, provided that social distancing can be maintained. They may ask you to call first and confirm whether you are feeling unwell or have any Covid-19 symptoms (shortness of breath, dry cough, fever).

Can I get my car/boat/bicycle repaired?

Yes if absolutely necessary, particularly if you are an essential worker, but routine repairs should be postponed unless without them, you cannot go shopping/attend medical appointments etc.

Can I go to the post office/bank/insurers?

Yes, provided social distancing is maintained.

Can my Minister of religion visit me or undertake a funeral service?

Yes provided social distancing is maintained. Home visits should not be prolonged and for any funeral service, attendees are limited to immediate family, or if none, other next of kin or any close friend.

Can my gardener or cleaner(s) come to my house or flat?

Not if they or you or any member of your household feel unwell or have any Covid-19 symptoms (shortness of breath, dry cough, fever). Otherwise your gardener can come provided they are in a group of not more than 2, do not meet the occupants of your household and social distancing measures are maintained. Your cleaner should only attend if really necessary and provided you and members of your household do not meet with them. This means that you and members of your household should not be in your house or flat for the duration of the cleaning. They must not be in a group of more than 2 and social distancing must be maintained. If you live alone and only one cleaner usually comes, you may be present in the house if it is impracticable for you to leave provided social distancing is maintained.

Can my plumber/roofer/scaffolder/electrician/workperson still undertake works I have already agreed to?

Works should be undertaken only if it is necessary, for example, to make immediate repairs. Not more than 2 people should undertake the work and social distancing must be maintained. If essential maintenance works require more than 2 people, then you should check the States website or contact the Committee for Health & Social Care to see whether they have granted any general permission for emergency works or otherwise might, exceptionally, permit the works to take place. Workpeople should be asked not to come to your dwelling if they or you or any member of your household are feeling unwell or have any Covid-19 symptoms (shortness of breath, dry cough, fever).

Can non-essential retail outlets make online or telephone sales and home deliveries of their goods?

Online or telephone sales are not prohibited and home deliveries can be made provided the prohibition on gatherings and meetings of not more than 2 people is adhered to at all times and social distancing measures are maintained (i.e. only 1 person should deliver if you are going to be at home).
