Explanatory note

The proposer and seconder of this amendment believe that once enacted any amendments to the Ordinance relating to the descriptions and definitions of the protected grounds and the exceptions thereto are likely to be of particular interest and importance to members of the community, including members of the States. They believe that it should be possible for members to consider and debate such changes. As the Ordinance is to apply only to Guernsey and bearing in mind the power of the Policy & Resources Committee to enact Ordinances in the event that any urgent amendment is necessary, they do not believe that inclusion of a regulation making power in this regard is necessary or desirable.
