Guernsey Quarterly Inflation Bulletin

31st December 2012 - Issue date 23rd January 2013

POLICY COUNCIL

THE STATES OF GUERNSEY

1.1 Introduction

The Guernsey RPIX and RPI are measures of inflation. They measure the change in the prices of goods and services bought for the purpose of consumption or use by households in Guernsey. The indices are published quarterly by the States of Guernsey Policy and Research Unit. The calculations of the RPIX and RPI are based on the price change of items within a 'shopping basket'. Whilst some prices rise over time, others will fall or fluctuate and the indices represent the average change in these prices. More detailed information on the calculation of these indices can be found at the end of this handout.

1.2 Headlines

- Guernsey's annual inflation as measured by RPIX ('core' inflation excluding mortgage interest payments) remained at 3.0% in December 2012, unchanged from the previous quarter, ending September 2012 and 0.2 percentage points higher than the quarter ending December 2011.
- In the UK the equivalent RPIX figure for December 2012 was 3.0% (see Figure 1.2.1). RPIX in Jersey for the same period was 2.2%.
- A rise in the price of electricity has increased the contribution made by the Fuel, light and power group this quarter, although this was partially offset by a reduction in the price of oil.
- A decrease in the price of motor fuels caused the growth in the Motoring group seen last quarter to ease off.
- The 'all items' RPI annual inflation rate was 3.2% in December 2012, compared to 3.0% the previous quarter, ending September 2012 and 3.2% in the quarter ending December 2011.
